The Richmond correspondent of The London Times, writing on the 16th February, says that he never had less hesitation in assuring the North that their work is not more than half done. He asserts that the terms offered by Mr. Lincoln at the recent conference have wrought a complete revolution in the feelings of the South.

In the House of Commons on the 20th March Mr. Gregory asked whether any and what steps had been taken to protect the property of British subjects purchased and paid for in the Southern States of North America before the commencement of the war, where proof had been afforded of the bona fide nature of the transactions.

Mr. Lavard said: I presume that the contains road south of Amelia Court-House, and sent word to Gen. Meade, who was following with the Second and If troops could be got up in time, he had hopes of capuring or dispersing the whole of Loe's army.

I am moving with the left wing commanded by Gen. be to-night at or near Burkesville. I have had no com-munication with Sheridan or Meade to-day, but hope to hear very soon that they have come up with and cap-tured or broken up the balance of the Army of North-

Mr. Humphrey moved to strike out the clause which provides that no vote shall be received unless the name of the person offering to vote shall be registered the day before the election. He thought this unconstitutional. If the Legislature can say that a legal voter cannot vote unless registered on the day before election, it may, with equal propriety, say that he must be registered one or six months before the day of election.

The motion to amend was lost.

Mr. Shaper moved to strike out the clause, providing that a registered name may be stricken off on the eath of two electors that the person is not a qualified voter. This was lost.

This was lost.

This clause was subsequently changed so as to provide that a name may be stricken off on satisfactory proof to the inspectors that the person is not a duly qualified voter.

Mr. Strong moved an amendment providing that in Brooklyn the inspectors and Canvassers shall be appointed by a two-thirds vote of the City Supervisors, instead of the Police Commissioners.

Mr. Shafer would be astonished if this motion prevail for New-York and unother for Brooklyn, unless on the same principle that governed the Senate on the paid Fire Department bill, which was simply that the Senator from the Second District (Mr. Strong) was opposed to it. Brooklyn is to be congratulated in this instance, at least in having a Republican representative here, for nobody believes that he (Mr. Strong) was a Democrat, his amendment would prevail.

Mr. Pologen said that none were more successful, eletter at this or the last session, in calling up and seeing partisan ghosts in measures introduced into the Senate. There is nothing in these assumptions of the Senate. The truth is that the New York supervisors have been tried in this matter and been found wanting. It is otherwise in Brooklyn; and furthermore the proposition is that it shall require a two-thirds vote to appoint.

Mr. Firmps admired that ability and pertlangity of point.

Mr. Fig. ps admired that ability and pertinacity of the Senator from the Second District, which compels the majority of his political friends here to yield to his wishes. It was so on the Heaith bill, it was so on the paid Fire Department bill. Brooklyn was excepted from the operation of both these mensures, and he admired his success. He deemed that the New-York Saperrisors have been found wanting in this matter, but if it were otherwise it should be remembered that the Board as organized is the enaction of a Republican Legislature.
